Cassandre Albert, born in 2000 in Tours, is emerging as a rising figure in the contemporary art scene, shaping her approach around the observation of landscapes, particularly mountains. A graduate of HEAR (Haute école des arts du Rhin), Cassandre Albert works across various disciplines—painting, light, and installation—to delve into a thoughtful exploration of our relationship with landscapes.

In Par-delà l'Enchantement, Cassandre Albert creates a space where painting becomes an immersion, a sensory journey that explores the boundaries between the imaginary and the tangible. Her work, both delicate and powerful, unfolds like inner landscapes, traversed by light and shadow, where elements appear suspended in a quest for transcendence. The artist captures the strength of an invisible world while revealing its vulnerability.

The exhibition's scenography is designed as an extension of her paintings. The space transforms into a site of confrontation, where the works interact with gazes, as well as with light, volumes, and the textures of the space. It offers an immersive experience, inviting viewers into a silent dialogue with the pieces, as if to grasp the very essence of what lies beyond enchantment.

Cassandre Albert explores the mountain as a shifting territory, both geographic and spiritual. Through a practice that spans painting, sculpture, glasswork, and installation, she examines the tension between the representation of landscapes and a more intimate, almost mystical, interpretation of them. Her work questions the perception of nature's immutability, shedding light on the fragility of mountainous ecosystems—often idealized yet deeply vulnerable.
